

Sad Nation Buries President Kennedy; Accused Assassin Is Killed at Dallas

Millions See Murder in Dallas Station

By ROBERT R. HOLTON

Associated Press Staff Writer

Millions of television viewers throughout the nation watched in stunned horror Sunday as a murder was committed. It undoubtedly was the first time so many people witness a real-life homicide.

But many looked beyond the grisly aspects of the spectacle to find in the deed some type of justice worked against Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused, but not convicted, of assassinating President Kennedy only two days before.

The overwhelming majority of those polled by The Associated Press looked upon Oswald's slaying by Dallas night club proprietor Jack Ruby as a frightening revolt against the American code of justice.

Many thought the murder mirrored a breakdown in the moral standards of the nation. Clergy men condemned it as a serious breach in Christian ethics.

Still others saw in Oswald's death a practical loss. They wondered aloud whether the true presidential assassin had paid for his crime.

In Dallas, where the slaying of both the President and his suspected killer took place, some openly cheered the killing of Oswald. But many more, along with the clergy and civic leaders, denounced the slaying as an unlawful and damaging act.

Kiwanians to Honor Star Farm Family

The week of November 25 through November 29 has been designated throughout our nation as Farm-City Week by Kiwanis International. This is a promotion to establish a closer relation and better understanding between the farm and city people.

In this connection the Hope Kiwanis Club will have a farm program tomorrow, Tuesday November 26, at their regular weekly meeting.

The Champion Farm Family of the Year, Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Wilson, and the Champion 4-H Boy and Girl, Wallace Byers, and Caroline Beck, will be honored at this meeting. There will also be outstanding farmers from our area and farm officials recognized. The principal speaker for this farm program will be the Director of the Agriculture Department from Southern State College.

The Hope Kiwanis Club hope that many farmers in this area will visit with the citizens and businessmen in Hope this week, and especially Tuesday, when there will be free parking in Hope downtown all day.

Looked Forward to 100th Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sister Catherine Berrissimo had looked forward with joy to her 100th birthday.

But, when the day came Sunday, the nun had received a greeting card bearing the signature of President John F. Kennedy. The card arrived Saturday, after the President had been assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

Connally Able to Walk Some

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. John Connally, seriously wounded at the time President Kennedy was assassinated, has regained enough strength to walk around his hospital room.

Mrs. Connally, still obviously upset by the death of the President and the wounding of her husband Friday, said the governor is now apparently out of danger.

"He asked me to tell everyone he is going to be all right," Mrs. Connally read Sunday from a prepared statement to newsmen at Parkland Hospital. "Gov. Connally has asked me to convey to the people of Texas, the nation and the world our deep sorrow of the sickening tragedy which struck at one of President Kennedy's most triumphant hours."

In 48 Hours Dallas Again Degraded

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.

Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS (AP)—In the space of 48 hours, this sparkling metropolis—while trying desperately to show its best face to the world—was degraded twice.

The first time, authorities said, it was by a ne'er-do-well, self-styled Communist with a mail-order rifle: Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, born in New Orleans, charged with the assassination Friday of President Kennedy.

The second time, it was by a small-time, brawling strip joint owner who killed the Communist Ruby, 52, born Rubinstein in Chicago, who took it upon himself to act for the courts Americans cherish and shot down Oswald Sunday.

Dallas reacted with deep grief and shame to President Kennedy's death.

The reaction to Oswald's death was more complex. Some openly said the killing was a good thing. Others, secretly, thought it. But over most the weight of shame settled more heavily.

The burden of conscience became enormous. That it could happen here!

Dallas has a metropolitan population of more than one million. Its big growth came when Northern and Eastern manufacturers began moving their industrial plants to the city.

It is now a cosmopolitan city. But it is, indeed, a citadel of political conservatism at certain levels—just as a matter of fact, as areas in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Indianapolis.

Pravda, Moscow's organ of the Communist party, overstated the case against Dallas: "All America knows that the most reactionary, the wildest elements... have built their nests precisely in Texas."

But it struck an exposed nerve.

Before the President's visit, Dallas was agonizingly conscious that only a month ago Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was struck with a far right placard and spat upon—and that the new president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife had been spat upon and jostled here in the 1960 election campaign.

For weeks, news stories quoting city leaders, editors and letters to the editor had urged the people to behave, to lay aside bitterness and to welcome President Kennedy as befitted his office.

"This is a black mark Dallas will never live down," said one resident despairingly. That was the day the President died.

Sunday night...

"This thing is going to tear this town apart," a young woman said.

On a small grassy slope in a small park Sunday were two wreaths. A card on one said: "In memory of our beloved President, John F. Kennedy. From the bereaved citizens of Dallas." The other said simply: "We are all so sorry."

Oswald May Have Left a Map of Plan

By ARTHUR EVERETT

Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade confirmed today that a Dallas city map with X marks and a line drawn on it which corresponds to a path of the bullet that killed President John F. Kennedy was found in Lee Harvey Oswald's room.

Wade said fingerprints of Oswald, the slain Marxist accused of the assassination, also were found on the foreign-made rifle which felled the President.

Oswald was slain Sunday by Jack Ruby, 52, a night club owner and self-appointed executioner who undertook swift, savage reprisal for the Kennedy murder.

Wade said the map has X's at various downtown intersections. At the intersection of Houston and Elm streets a line traces the trajectory similar to that of the gunfire which took the President's life.

The map may have constituted what police termed "major evidence" against Oswald in Kennedy's assassination, but which they had refused to reveal.

The News said officers theorized Oswald marked spots on the map from which a sniper could get a good shot at the Kennedy motorcade.

Meanwhile, from Mexico City came another report—this time that Oswald visited the Soviet and Cuban consuls in September and tried to get a visa.

The newspaper Excelsior attributed its report to a high official source which it did not name.

Oswald died Sunday with a single bullet wound in the side, fired by Ruby as he stepped from a crowd of 200 in the basement of the Dallas City Hall.

"It's too good for him!"

Hope Group Honored by Girl Scouts

Mrs. Fred McElroy, of Hope, received a special award for outstanding service to the Girl Scout movement Thursday at the annual meeting of the Conference Girl Scout Council in Texarkana.

Also representing Hope at the meeting were Mrs. Harold Brents, Secretary of the Council, Mrs. Hillman Koen, Mrs. Gordon T. Yer, Mrs. Calvin Smith, Neighborhood Chairman and Mr. George Frazier, Finance Chairman.

Seventy-four delegates and visitors from 12 towns in Conifer's 15 Arkansas-Texas county jurisdiction, were present to highlight special events of the 1963 Council program and plan toward the 1964 program.

The meeting was opened with a special flag ceremony by Girl Scout leaders from Arkadelphia. Featured in the program were highlights of the National Convention held in October at Miami, Florida. These highlights were presented by Mrs. Truman Hobbs, Council President, Mrs. Earl W. Tews, Executive Director, Miss Gail Gilbert, District Advisor, all of Texarkana, and Mrs. John Harsh of Magnolia, 3rd Vice President.

A color film, "The World in Her Book," was shown which explored the ways international Friendship is interwoven in the entire Girl Scout program. Following the film Mrs. Charles Proetz, Sr., of Texarkana, installed the new members of the Board of Directors. Mr. George Frazier was re-elected as Finance Chairman and Mrs. John B. Gardner, Jr. of Hope was elected to the Nominating Committee.

Featured at the close of the meeting was a special Awards Luncheon during which citizens who have made outstanding contribution to the Girl Scout program in 1963 were recognized. Mr. George Frazier served as Master of Ceremonies at the Luncheon.

Johnson Writes JFK's Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first two letters Lyndon B. Johnson signed as President were to the two children whose father is buried today.

The letters to Caroline Kennedy, 6 years old Wednesday, and John F. Kennedy Jr., 3 years old today, told them at the beginning they perhaps are too young to understand it all now. Friday just after his return from Texas and only hours after he had been sworn in to succeed their slain father in the highest office of the nation.

Johnson Will Meet World Statesmen

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson travels the last miles with John F. Kennedy today—and then sets his own course in meetings with a massive array of world statesmen.

Everyone watched for clues as to how Johnson would get along with President Charles de Gaulle of France. De Gaulle differed from Kennedy on such great question as NATO, the European Common Market and the French government's insistence on its own nuclear force.

Whether Johnson, noted as a matter persuer when he was the Democratic leader of the Senate, would get together with De Gaulle on an in-depth discussion of world affairs was not yet certain. But the possibility remained.

First came the sad task of accompanying the martyred President Kennedy's body to the grave. Part of the journey was to be afoot, from the White House to St. Matthews Cathedral for the requiem mass, then by car to Arlington National Cemetery, for a hero's burial.

After the funeral, Mrs. Kennedy arranged to receive the foreign dignitaries at the White House. Then Johnson plunges into his first round of personal diplomacy as President.

He scheduled a 90-minute reception — 5:30-7 p.m. — for the more than 100 foreign dignitaries who journeyed to Washington to pay their respects to the late President Kennedy.

The social gathering in the State Department's diplomatic reception rooms gives the new President little opportunity for more than a passing contact with foreign leaders with whom he will have more dealings later.

Today's emphasis, however,

Hope, like the residents of Arkansas and the Nation, paid tribute Monday to the late President John F. Kennedy.

A special memorial service was held at noon at First Baptist Church... all state, federal and county offices remained closed all day including Hope Post Office... however, mail was placed in boxes and dispatched as usual... both local banks closed for the funeral hour and did not reopen Monday afternoon... practically all schools in the county dismissed classes today but will reopen on regular schedule Tuesday... many business offices closed all day and a great many local stores closed up shop for the funeral services from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and others closed from 11 a.m. until noon... flags on all government buildings and those displayed at downtown stores and homes were flown at half mast.

Linda Marie Evans and Cynthia Harrison of Hope will be among 26 Southern State College students included in this year's "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities", an honor based on leadership, scholarship and service to the college.

Holdup Men Taken Into Custody Here

Two Springfield, Ohio men listed as Tony Pollard, 24, and Larry Pollard, 18, were arrested here last night and released to Lafayette County officials where they were wanted for armed robbery. They were wanted in connection with a $95 service station holdup at Lewisville a short time earlier.

Officer Milam heard the report over the radio and in turn radioed the local police car who threw up a roadblock at the end of South Main. The pair offered no resistance to Sgt. Rowe and Officer Martin although they were armed. City Officers said the younger man is also AWOL from Fort Campbell, Ky.

Positive Oswald Was the Slayer

By PEGGY SIMPSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "This is it—I've sent men to the electric chair on less evidence than we have against Lee Harvey Oswald."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade made the claim as he revealed the evidence which convinced Dallas officers they had an airtight case against the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Oswald was the killer," Wade said.

Nine hours before Wade spoke to newsmen Sunday night, Oswald, 24, was fatally shot by Jack Ruby, owner of a Dallas lounge. The shooting occurred in the police headquarters basement in front of hundreds of police, Secret Service, FBI men and newsmen, as Oswald was being escorted to an armored car for transportation to new jail quarters.

Not long after Wade finished describing what he said was all the evidence against Oswald, the Dallas Morning News said in a copyrighted story that officers had found a map in Oswald's room which marked the path of the bullets which killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally Friday afternoon. Wade had made no mention of this.

The newspaper said the map outlined Kennedy's motorcade route, and a line was drawn from the Texas School Book Depository building to Elm Street, where the President and Connally were shot.

Police officers available said they knew nothing of any map. In Washington, the Secret Service and FBI had no comment.

Wade said two facts stood high in the mass of evidence linking the slim, brown-haired Oswald to the slaying.

First, a palm print on the underside of the rifle which fired the bullets that killed Kennedy was identified as Oswald's.

Secondly, Wade said, Oswald had definitely been placed inside the building at the time shots were fired from there at Kennedy.

Exiles Give One Flower at Time

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — One flower at a time, a dramatic floral tribute offered by Cuban exiles, grew today in honor of President John F. Kennedy.

The Cubans went to Miami's Torch of Friendship carrying the flowers. The idea of a gigantic floral offering appeared spontaneously Sunday through out the colony.

The torch is a stone pillar atop which burns an eternal gas flame. It is a symbol of friendship between Miami and Latin Americans.

A picture of President Kennedy was placed on the monument and thousands of flowers were spread beneath it.

Protection Is Staggering for Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—American security officers—still shaken by the assassination of John F. Kennedy — had the staggering job today of protecting some 27 heads of state and government, including President Johnson.

Making the task that much more difficult was the fact that slow procession behind Kennedy's casket from the White House to St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral several blocks away.

To throw a screen of protection about them, officials used a maximum security plan drawn several months ago, just in case, for guarding the foreign dignitaries in and around the cathedral.

Army security officers, Secret Service agents and metropolitan police devised the elaborate arrangements last spring, church officials recalled, against any possibility of an assembly of important personages.

Five Killed

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Five persons were killed today when a slow passenger train rammed an express train near Hannover, the German Federal Railways announced.

Seven persons were seriously injured and 20 others suffered lesser injuries. Officials said the slow train went through a stop sign.

Thousands Line Streets in Grieved Tribute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sorrowing nation — and statesmen from around the globe — said farewell to the martyred 35th President today and commended to God the soul "of thy servant John."

Hundreds of thousands, many of them weeping, watched as Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widowed so young, followed the caisson, part of the way on foot. Bravely she walked, between Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on her right and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on her left. A black veil covered her face and draped her shoulders.

The new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife Lady Bird walked behind the Kennedys.

At the great stone steps of St. Matthew's Cathedral — scene of the Requiem Mass, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston awaited her, his tall mitre shining in the crisp autumn air.

By then, Jacqueline Kennedy had beside her her two small children, Caroline and John, dressed in blue, who had ridden to the great church. The Cardinal leaned over and laid his hands on their shoulders, as if in blessing.

A few ranks behind Mrs. Kennedy stood one of the greatest assemblages of world statesmen ever seen. They came from 53 countries and included 26 heads of state or government.

Towering above them all was the figure of President Charles de Gaulle of France, in his olive drab uniform.

Quietly, behind Mrs. Kennedy, the great from abroad filed into the cathedral. There was Prince Philip of Britain, husband of Queen Elizabeth; Queen Frederika of Greece, and many others who had come from thousands of miles.

Behind them came the U. S.

Marshall Is Guttled by Fire, 1 Dead

MARSHALL, Ark. (AP) — A fire razed the south side of the Marshall town square Saturday, leaving one volunteer firefighter dead and another injured.

Killed when the wall of a theater crumbled was Everett H. McKim, 37, of Clinton. A Marshall man, Rufus Horton suffered a broken hip when the wall fell. Attendants at a Harrison hospital said Sunday night his condition was satisfactory.

The fire destroyed four buildings and damaged two. Building owners set the loss at $175,000.

Searcy County Judge Lawdon Branscum said the fire started from an old tractor which was being used for power purposes in crushing feed at the Mays Feed Mill. Branscum said he didn't know if the tractor exploded after it caught fire.

High winds helped spread the fire quickly to the Trece Theater, Branscum said, and by the time Marshall's volunteer fire department began battling the blaze it was well underway.

Firemen from Harrison, Leslie and Clinton aided Marshall firefighters.

Destroyed were two buildings used by the feed mill, the theater and E. Daniel Hardware. Buck Mays Department Store and Baker Drug Store were both damaged.

McKim and Horton were on top of the theater, hosing down the roof to keep the fire from spreading across the tops of the buildings. They were ordered down when fire caught at the bottom of the theater.

They were descending a ladder away from the heart of the fire and as they reached ground the brick wall toppled over them. McKim, who was killed, was a radio-television repairman.

Goods from the stores were brought outside and eight units of State Troopers were dispatched to Marshall to prevent looting.

Supreme Court, the Cabinet, federal officials, White House staff men.

Just before the flag-covered casket was carried into the cathedral the band played "Hail to the Chief." Then, softly on the autumn air came the strains of hymns.

And, during the slow, final journey, the sound of bagpipes was heard — from the Black Watch Pipers who were among the dead President's musical favorites.

At the Capitol, 240,000 persons filed past the bier before the funeral procession.

The great copper dome of St. Matthew's Cathedral, blue-green from decades of weathering, glistened in a crisp, clear day as the cortege approached it for the requiem Mass.

As the procession came by the White House on the way to the cathedral the Marine band played a dirge. Earlier, the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" had filled the air.

Along with the 34-year-old widow of the fallen chief executive, and sorrowing with her, went one of the greatest arrays of world statesmen ever assembled. From 53 countries they came—28 as heads of state or government.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, an old friend of the Kennedy family, came to celebrate the Mass at the church named for St. Matthew the evangelist and apostle.

The white horses pulling the caisson carrying the coffin plodded along quietly, but the traditional riderless horse turned, twisted and pranced sideways.

Before the casket was placed on the caisson at the Capitol, Mrs. Kennedy had knelt before it and prayed briefly.

Then, as the coffin was carried from the catafalque, there was a roll of ruffles and flourishes.

"O God of Loveliness," a band played, and the procession began, to the measured cadences of muffled drums and a mournful dirge.

A bell tolled as the cortege approached the White House. It reached there at 11:35 a.m., while church bells tolled mournfully.

Then at the White House, Jacqueline Kennedy set out on foot, leading the procession to the cathedral.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy clutched Mrs. Kennedy's hand as they walked out the northwest gate of the White House.

President and Mrs. Johnson walked behind a line of members of the immediate family who followed Mrs. Kennedy.

French President Charles de Gaulle was close behind, leading the foreign leaders.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and others also were in the walking procession.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen headed a group from Congress.

The youthful President, who sought peace in an age of hot and cold wars, finds his own peace beside the nation's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery—in a grave overlooking the memorial of another martyred president, Abraham Lincoln.

But with the prayers for the dead there were hopes for the new President. Lyndon B. Johnson, who briefly lays aside the awesome problems he inherited to lead 28 presidents, prime ministers and kings in paying respect to the assassinated Kennedy.

Not since the burial of the Unknown Soldier 40 years ago has there been such a gathering in Washington.

And many, if not all of the 100 or so dignitaries—including French President Charles de Gaulle, Prince Phillip and Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home of Britain, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany—are to join the grieving Mrs. Kennedy in a somber procession that will walk behind the horse-drawn caisson bearing Kennedy's body to St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral.

The low pontifical mass is to be celebrated by Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and an old friend of the Kennedy family.

Because of the space limitations, only those with invitations will be allowed up the 13 steps and into the dark-red brick church.

But in a moving display of sorrow and affection, Americans might and humble paid their respects to their slain leader by the hundreds of thousands.

They choked the sidewalks along Pennsylvania Avenue and flooded the capital grounds Sunday as the late President's body was carried past them on a caisson drawn by six horses. Then came the dark riderless horse, with empty cavalry boots reversed in the stirrups, the traditional symbol of a slain warrior.

And after the procession passed, the crowd of spectators

Studebaker Head Resigns Post

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Sherwood H. Egbert resigned today as president and member of the corporation of Studebaker Corp. Byers Burlingame was named president and chief executive officer of the auto manufacturing firm.

Egbert's resignation said that while he still was in agreement with the Studebaker board on general policies, there was some difference of opinion on how various plans should be carried out.

Burlingame, 63, has been in the automotive business since 1952 when he went to work for the old Packard Motor Car Co. He has been an executive with Studebaker since it merged with Packard in 1954.

broke through the police lines and by the thousands marched silently up the broad avenue to the white capitol crowning Capitol Hill.

All night long and into the morning they passed the bier lying with its guard of honor under the Capitol rotunda. At times the line extended nine miles, involving a seven-hour wait.

Some cried. Some carried children in arms to let them have a brush with history.

But even as the crowds waited along Pennsylvania Avenue for the start of the procession Sunday a new shock whispered through the throngs:

Lee Harvey Oswald, the 24-year-old Marxist and ex-Marine charged with killing Kennedy, was himself gunned down and died in an emergency room at Dallas' Parkland Hospital, not 10 feet from where Kennedy had died Friday.

Oswald breathed his last shortly after the late President's body was carried by nine servicemen into the Capitol.

Aged Father of Kennedy in Tribute

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy grieved over the death of his assassinated President son today at his summer home as the nation paid its final tribute.

Although the ailing senior Kennedy was pronounced physically able to travel, he elected to remain here during the Washington funeral of John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, 75, went for a motor ride this morning, accompanied by his niece, Ann Gargan, and the Rev. John Cavanaugh, long-time friend and president emeritus of Notre Dame University. A nurse rode along in the family limousine, driven by chauffeur Frank Saunders.

Dr. Russell S. Boles, Boston neurologist, said the former ambassador displayed "tremendous courage" upon learning Saturday of his son's assassination. The family waited 21 hours after John F. Kennedy died before telling his father.

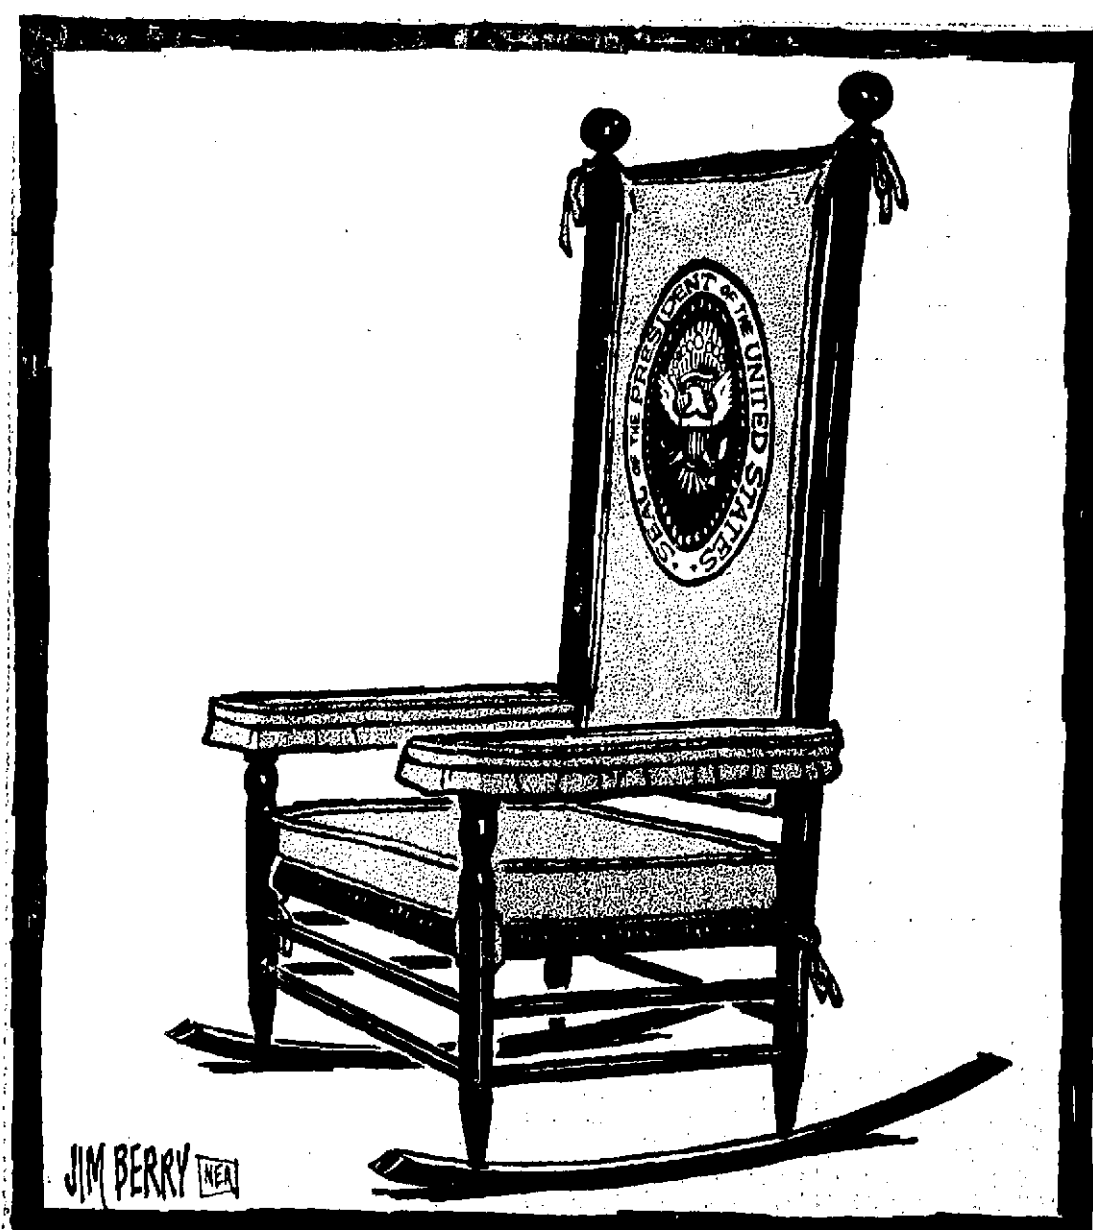

Kennedy suffered a stroke two years ago and has been confined to a wheelchair since.

Only in Communist China was there no official observance of the President's funeral. The Chinese Reds reported Kennedy's death Friday, but have made no comment on it. Sunday, however, they assailed President Johnson, saying he supported reactionary policies under Kennedy.

Oswald May

someone shouted after the 24-year-old self-styled Communist dropped in his tracks, a single cry of anguish escaping his lips. Police quickly overwhelmed and disarmed Ruby.

It was an incredible climax to the wildest weekend in Dallas history—a savage, sudden moment of raw drama that was caught by national television networks and broadcast with shocking impact into American living rooms.

"He took Kennedy's death much harder than that of our 88-year-old father five years ago," said Ruby's older sister, Eva Grant. "He couldn't eat Friday. He kept talking about Jackie and the Kennedy kids."

Oswald had been formally accused of the sniper assassination of Kennedy last Friday as the President rode beaming beside his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, in a triumphal motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Also wounded in the shooting was Texas Gov. John Connally, who is recovering. Later, authorities said, Oswald shot to death a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, who—wittingly or otherwise—interrupted his getaway flight.

The first reaction of Dallas police to Oswald's murder was to mark the assassination case closed, and concentrate on trying to convict Ruby.

But federal officials felt otherwise. President Johnson ordered a full government probe of Oswald's slaying, and the FBI proposed further investigation into the presidential assassination with the hope of eventually giving the American people the full story. Later, Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade listed what he said was a complete summary of the evidence against Oswald.

A wild tumult broke out immediately after the shooting of Oswald in the basement of City Hall. But it was nothing compared to the public uproar over the slaying.

Communist propaganda organs abroad promptly depicted Oswald's death as a coverup to mask sinister rightist forces which they blamed for the President's assassination. Moscow bitterly resented the linking of Oswald with communism.

Americans themselves disagreed over the shooting of the cold-eyed Oswald. Some thought he got what he deserved. Others noted that no matter the enormity of the crime charged against him, he still was entitled by law to his day in court.

Amid the furor, Ruby was booked on a murder charge and Dist. Atty. Wade announced he would press for his conviction and execution in the electric chair with the same vigor he had proposed to apply toward Oswald.

Johnson Will

was on mourning, not international affairs.

But in these swift moving days Johnson had to work business in between the hours of mourning.

Sunday he accompanied the Kennedy cortege from the White House to the Capitol where the flag-draped casket was placed in state under the dome of the rotunda.

He also talked over the federal budget for next year and held a top-level review of the troubled South Vietnamese situation.

Carrying through on an appointment originally set up by Kennedy, Johnson heard a report from the I.S. ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge.

White House sources subsequently announced that Johnson approved this three-point major policy directive:

1. The United States remains determined to help South Viet Nam stamp out the Communist Viet Cong.

2. Still in force is the Kennedy objective of withdrawing at least 1,000 U.S. servicemen from Viet Nam by the end of this year, and pulling out virtually the whole contingent of 16,000 men by January 1965.

3. All U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam should aid the new, post-Diem Saigon government "in its consolidation, in its development of public support for its policies and for winning the war against the Viet Cong."

Heber Springs, with seven flowing springs of varying mineral content, was founded as a fashionable watering place by John T. Jones of Helena, about 1850.

The steady shuffle of feet had continued without a break from 3 p.m. Sunday through the afternoon and night as the crowds waited patiently for a chance to pay their last respects.

Former Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon were among the last to be admitted, along with a small group of officials' families and others, after the waiting line was halted.

Arkansans Pay Homage to Kennedy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Throughout Arkansas people flocked to churches today to pay homage to the assassinated President John F. Kennedy. Scores of city governments, schools, and businesses stopped all activity for the day of mourning.

State and federal offices were to be closed all day and chambers of commerce in many Arkansas cities asked businessmen to close during the time of President Kennedy's funeral.

Due to requests from all over the state, all county courthouses where possible were to be closed at mid-day, according to Little River County Judge Ray Sikes. Some city governments which will not close all day will do so for a few hours.

At Hot Springs, major night clubs that closed Friday night announced they would remain closed through today.

Memorial services for President Kennedy were held in Catholic, Protestant and Jewish places of worship. Military observances honoring the late President were planned at Ft. Chaffee and Little Rock Air Force Base.

Sam J. Allen, executive secretary of the Arkansas Council of Churches, urged all Protestants in the state to observe today as a day of mourning. "We mourn the fact that John F. Kennedy is gone and we mourn for our nation that such a thing like this could happen here," Allen said.

At Little Rock, the annual convention of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, was not called off because the group's national organization begins its deliberations on policy next Monday and because Thanksgiving occurs later in the week. The state group's resolution committee had been in session several days. AFBF president Harold F. Ohlendorf said, "when without warning a stark and sickening tragedy struck this nation of ours," Ohlendorf called it a most difficult decision on whether to proceed with the annual gathering.

Little Rock banks will be closed from 10:45 to 12:30 and Arkansas Power and Light Co. announced its business offices would be closed from 11 a.m. until noon.

Among the state's institutions of higher learning which closed today are the University of Arkansas, Arkansas State Teachers, Southern State, Henderson, Arkansas Tech, Arkansas A&M, Little Rock University, Hendrix, Arkansas State, Beebe Branch of Arkansas State and Fort Smith Junior College. All Catholic schools in the nie Edwards of Arkadelphia was an out-of-town guest.

Births

Dr. and Mrs. Dale J. Briggs of Little Rock are the parents of a son, born Monday, November 18 at St. Vincent Infirmary. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver F. Brockman and Dr. and Mrs. Barney Briggs, all of Little Rock. Guest-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Foxley of Hope, Mrs. E. V. Dill of Nashville, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Finch and Mrs. T. A. Brockman of Little Rock.

Coming and Going

J. W. Curtis, Jr. of Buckner, a student at Southern State, spent the weekend with his sister, Mrs. Chris Peire, in Peire, and Curt.

Mrs. Ernest DeLong of Texarkana was the weekend guest of the James H. Joneses.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pitts returned home last week from Rochester, Minn. En route home they visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pitts, in Lincoln, Ark.

Agreed on When to Take Oath

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Post reported in a copyrighted story today that moments after the death of President Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson conferred with the dead President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

The two agreed, the paper said, that Johnson should immediately take the oath that made him the 36th president of the United States.

The story, written by Executive Editor William Hobby Jr., said the attorney general and Johnson conferred by radio-telephone while Johnson was aboard the presidential plane, "Air Force One," at Love Field in Dallas.

Robert Kennedy and Johnson agreed that the vice president should take the oath before leaving Dallas, it said.

The oath was then administered by U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas.

The Post said that right after talking to the attorney general, President Johnson placed a call to the late President's mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, in Hyannis Port, Mass.

State Aids in Rescue of Young Pair

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Arkansas police departments and ham operators combined with Tennessee and Oklahoma units Friday to rescue a Texan and his date after they hung perilously in their car over a cliff for four hours.

Ed Carpenski of San Antonio, Tex., was visiting Tennessee, and had taken his date, Joyce Morton of Memphis, for a ride when they were run off the road near Rossville, Tenn.

Carpenski's car came to a stop on the edge of a ravine, and teetered there and threatening to fall over every time Carpenski moved.

Carpenski, a ham radio operator, had a radio in his car. He picked up the microphone and called "QRR," the land version of the SOS.

The call was picked up faintly by ham operator Dan (Kelly) Lacy at Tulsa, Okla.

"I grabbed the microphone and yelled 'emergency traffic'—all stations clear this frequency," Lacy said, "and it was suddenly quiet."

Carpenski's "QRR" came again but Lacy had trouble reading it so he enlisted the aid of ham operators in Iowa, Tex-

Ask Money for Slain Policeman

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State Police of District 4 have been asked by their commander to contribute money to the family of Dallas, Tex. Policeman J. D. Tippit, shot in seeking the assassin of President Kennedy.

Capt. Otto Griffin said in appealing to his men in 26 counties, "Despite the fact that you are not overpaid for your good work, please mail in your contributions and ask your friends as Kentucky, Mississippi and Florida.

Working together, they pieced together the story of Carpenski's situation and Lacy notified the Oklahoma Highway Patrol at Tulsa.

From there the message was relayed to the Vinita, Okla. police department and then across Arkansas by police in Siloam Springs, Springdale, Harrison, Batesville and Newport.

Newport police called Memphis police and they called the Tennessee Highway patrol.

Following directions provided by the Hams, Tennessee state troopers then found the car and pulled it back on the road.

to do likewise to this "Tippit Fund." The district is headquartered at Warren.

Tippit is survived by his widow and three children.

The contributions will be turned over to Drew County Coroner Raymond Stephenson of Monticello for mailing to the Dallas Times-Herald and transfer to the Tippit family.

Major Mack Thompson, commander of the Highway Patrol Division of the State Police, said he thought the gesture was a good idea but did not know whether it would spread through the entire Highway Patrol Division.

A number of District leaders from all parts of the state are to be in Little Rock Monday, Thompson said, and added that he thought the matter of the State Police as a whole contributing would come up then.

Federated Club Sponsors Tea

On Sunday afternoon, November 24, 1963, approximately seventy-five persons registered at Harris Gymnasium - the occasion the Anna P. Strong Club's annual Season's Tea.

Four tables laid with beautiful lace cloths, and decorated with seasonal center pieces (spring, summer, fall and winter) were placed two on each side of the Gym. Another table laid cloth, from which sandwiches, cookies, mints, and tea were served, was placed at the front of the gym near the stage. Mrs. Estelle Spearman, President of the club poured tea from a Sterling Silver Tea Pot.

All club members attending (fifteen) wore black dresses with corsages of pink roses tied with baby blue ribbon (club colors).

A very timely program, M.C'd by Miss Shirley Hicks, a former member of the Junior Anna P. Strong Club, was composed of vocal and instrumental numbers rendered by Junior Club girls, students of Yergler and Shover Street schools. Guests soloists were Miss C. H. Coleman, Music Instructor at Hopewell Elementary School, Mrs. Lurlean Phillips, a member of the Charnetts Social Club, and Mr. Fred Scott, a local business man. Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. E. T. Williams, Assistant Hempstead County Home Demonstration Agent.

Ushers were Junior Anna P. Strong Club girls; in charge of music were Mesdames Edna Spearman, Neva Carmichael and E. L. Hicks; Registrars were Mrs. M. L. Rutherford and Mrs. Veronica Phillips; Mrs. E. M. Nelson introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Gladys B. Goldston pinned on her corsage, a huge white mum: in charge of service were Mesdames E. S. Cooper, Louise Hicks, S. McWashing-ton.

Calendar of Events

The Yergler Band Mother's Club will sponsor a dance at Harris Gymnasium, featuring the High Tones of Pine Bluff, Arkansas Friday, December 6, 1963, from 9 till o'clock. Admission 1.00 in advance.

Tickets are now on sale, and may be purchased from club members, and at Hicks Funeral Home and Green Leaf Cafe.

Most Grid Events Were Cancelled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most sports events were postponed over the weekend, in memory of President Kennedy. No sports contests will be held today.

A few weekend events went on as scheduled, including seven games in the National Football League Sunday. Almost all college football games were put off. The American Football League postponed its four-game card.

In stadiums where games were played, crowds for the most part were unusually subdued but they were as thick as ever.

Feelings ran high on the question of cancellation in some places. The NFL received a number of telephone calls from people who thought the games should not have been played.

Two players on the Philadelphia Eagles fought each other into the hospital in a dispute over whether the game with the Washington Redskins should go on. Coach Nick Skorich suspended the participants, Ben Scotti and John Mellekas.

The cancellation pattern was spotty, and seemed largely a matter of individual taste.

Harvard, the late President's alma mater, and Yale moved promptly to postpone their Saturday game for one week. Dozens of other schools followed suit.

Only 34 major and minor college football games were played Friday night and Saturday, 21 in the South, six in the Southwest, five in the Midwest and two in the Far West.

All Eastern games were postponed, as were those in the Big nearby Georgetown, were to be at the funeral.

Three Games to Wrap Up SWC Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three games this week could wrap up everything in Southwest Conference football except a second bowl spot.

Texas, the nation's No. 1 team, goes after the undisputed championship of the conference and the national title in a battle with traditional enemy Texas A&M at College Station Thursday.

Victory or a tie will do the trick for Texas so far as the conference crown is concerned. Only a victory could add the national title—Texas' first in 71 years of football. But no matter what happens Texas is host team in the Cotton Bowl.

Saturday Baylor and Rice tangle at Houston with the winner likely to get a bowl bid. Victory for Rice would, however, knock Baylor out of a chance of tying for the conference championship in the event Texas should lose to A&M.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian clash at Fort Worth in the other Saturday game. It means nothing except settling a long-time rivalry for another year.

Next week there will be two games—both supposed to have been played Saturday but postponed because of the death of President Kennedy.

Davis Cup Play Starts Thursday

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The United States will send its big Davis Cup 1-2 punch—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston—into the Victorian Tennis Championships starting Thursday at the Kooyong Club.

McKinley is returning to action after being sidelined by a recurring back ailment which struck him recently in the New South Wales Tournament at Sydney.

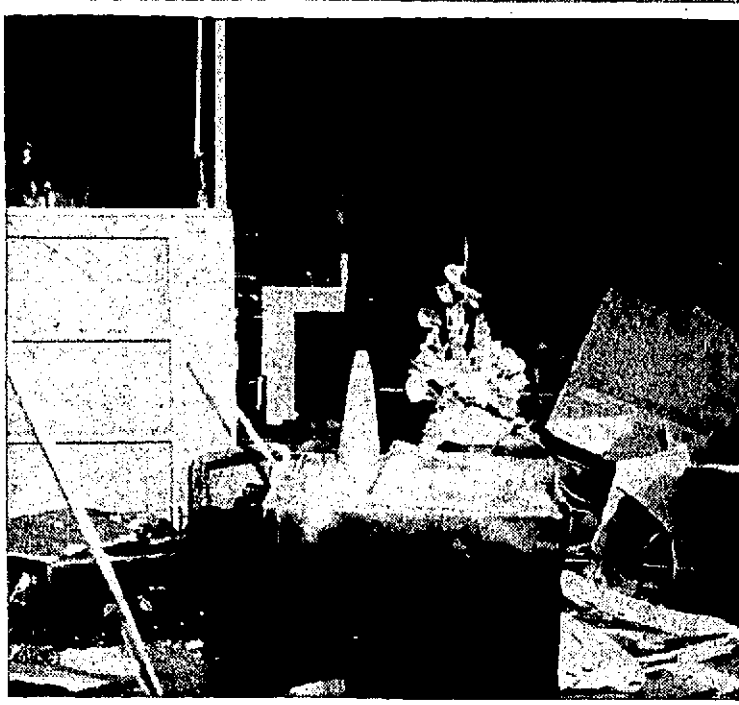

Ralston, 20, from Bakersfield, Calif., won the New South Wales tourney and went to the finals of the South Australian Championships before losing to John Newcombe, 19-year-old Australian junior titleholder.

Ralston, who said he was saddened by the death of President Kennedy, merely went through the motions in the final match, losing 6-1, 6-3, 15-17, 6-1. It was his first singles defeat in Australia.

"I couldn't help thinking about the assassination all the time. I was on the court," he said. Then he added: "John played terrific tennis—he probably would have beaten me, anyhow."

The American ace was reluctant to play but did so when he was told by William Battle, U.S. ambassador to Australia, that the late President Kennedy would have wished him to do so.

Explosion Rips Apartment

ACCUMULATED GAS IGNITED SHORTLY BEFORE 3 P.M. Saturday and the resulting explosion knocked out a wall, buckled the floor and ceiling of this small apartment which had been converted from a small neighborhood store at 111 N. Walnut St.

DAVID PAYTON, WHO LIVES THERE, AND TWO friends, Jerry Jones and Monty Malone, were shaken up but not injured. They were in process of lighting a heater when the explosion occurred. Debris carried at least 50 feet from the building and as you can see furniture was strewn about.

FORTUNATELY MRS. PAYTON AND THEIR SMALL CHILD were not at home at the time.

Razorbacks Win Final Game of Year

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

The Arkansas Razorbacks ended their 1963 football season Saturday by fighting off a hard-charging Texas Tech team and claiming a 27-20 victory.

Texas Tech spotted the Razorbacks three touchdowns and then put some excitement into the game by grabbing three for themselves before allowing Arkansas one more and the victory in the last 10 minutes of the game.

Arkansas' first score came near the end of the first quarter on a one-yard run by Bobby Nix which capped a 33-yard drive. Quarterback Fred Marshall claimed all but the touchdown in the drive as he ran for 22 yards and passed for 12 more before turning the ball over to Nix.

The second Razorback touchdown was the result of a 34-yard off-tackle sprint by sophomore Jack Brassuell early in the second period.

Kenny Hatfield electrified the Arkansas fans when he took a punt at the Arkansas 20 and returned it all the way for Arkansas' third touchdown and a 20-0 lead.

But, the Red Raiders struck swiftly, with three of their own touchdowns in the second period.

Quarterback Ben Elledge hit end Tommy Doyle with a 17-yard touchdown pass and followed it four minutes later with a 40-yarder to end David Parks.

Elledge didn't share the third touchdown as he charged over from one yard out and capped a 76-yard drive.

The two teams battled neck and neck through the third period before quarterback Billy Gray, who says he's not a running quarterback, ran 24 yards and into the end zone with less than 10 minutes on the clock.

Gray's run topped a drive of 85 yards by the Porkers.

The victory gave Arkansas a 5-5 season, the poorest since Coach Frank Broyles first with the Razorbacks in 1958. That year Broyles had a 4-6 season with all four victories coming in November.

Until this season, Broyles had not lost a game at Arkansas in the final month of regular play. This year he dropped two.

Hatfield's 80-yard runback will more than likely ice his place as the NCAA punt return champion with a total of 350 yards in 21 returns.

He set a new record at Fayetteville with 10 runbacks for 250 yards.

Parks set a new pass-catching record for Texas Tech during the game when he snagged four for 80 yards. The catches gave him a season total of 499 yards.

Donny Anderson also showed up well on kickoff returns and his work Saturday gave him a 448 yard total for another new Tech record. He got 100 yards on five returns Saturday.

The Porker homecoming was marred by the assassination on Friday of President John F. Kennedy at Dallas, Tex.

A homecoming parade was called off and the only ceremony was a brief and simple crowning at halftime of the homecoming queen, Miss Jacqueline Jones of Springfield, Mo.

University President David W. Mullins told the crowd that the game was played only because Texas Tech was already at Fayetteville and many fans had already arrived for the game.

Bowling Tournament

CHICAGO (AP)—Play in the seventh annual World's Invitational Bowling Tournament, the third scheduled day of the $40,000 marathon event, was suspended today in observance of President Kennedy's burial.

Cardinals Bounce Back With Big Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, a bounce-back bunch trying to prove that youth must be served, have thrown the National Football League's Eastern Conference title scramble into a triple tie with only three games remaining.

Led by the passing of quarterback Charley Johnson and a quartet of defensive specialists with only 10 years of pro experience between them—Larry Wilson, Garland Boyette, Sam Silas and Joe Robb—the Cardinals whipped the New York Giants 24-17 Sunday.

Three weeks ago, New York quarterback Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns and the Giant defense forced the Cardinals to give up the ball four times on interceptions and three times on fumbles. The result was a 38-21 victory over St. Louis.

It was a completely opposite story this time. Tittle, who had only four passes intercepted in 10 previous games, watched Wilson steal two. Boyette pounced on a fumble that led to the Cardinals' clinching touchdown. And Robb and Silas smashed Tittle to the ground twice in the last two minutes as he brought the Giants within striking distance of the tying touchdown.

The triumph catapulted the Cardinals into a first-place tie with the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who defeated Dallas 27-17. All three teams have 8-3 records. The Browns will beat St. Louis this Sunday while New York is at Dallas.

Pittsburgh's Steelers remained in contention in the East, boosting their record to 6-3-2 by battling the Western Division-leading Chicago Bears to a 17-17 tie. The Bears now are 9-1-1 to 9-2 for the Green Bay Packers, 28-10 conquerors of San Francisco.

In other games, Los Angeles knocked off Baltimore 17-16 on a third period field goal by Danny Villanueva. Tommy Mason cracked over for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter as Minnesota defeated Detroit 34-31 and Washington edged Philadelphia 13-10.

The seven-game NFL program went on as scheduled, only two days after the assassination of President Kennedy, despite protests from some quarters. The crowds were somber, but attendances were not affected.

The American Football League postponed its four-game program.

Students Picket Final Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A small group of University of Arkansas students picketed the student entrance to Razorback Stadium Saturday protesting the playing of the game between Arkansas and Texas Tech.

A newsman reported four students, two of them Negroes, carried signs protesting because the game was being played during the mourning period for assassinated President John F. Kennedy. The Arkansas-Texas game was the only one played in the Southwest Conference.

The newsman said one of the signs said "Flag at half mast, the U. of A. goes full blast."

Tigers and Cats

TORONTO (AP)—The Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Eastern Conference winners six of the last 10 years, will participate again in the Grey Cup for the Canadian Football League championship here next Saturday, against the British Columbia Lions.

Regular Programs Resume Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Most regular television and radio programming will be resumed Tuesday morning. Since Friday, all networks have had special programming—devoted mainly to the coverage of President Kennedy's assassination and related events.

When To Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

poned because of the death of President Kennedy. Baylor hosts Southern Methodist in one of them and Texas Christian plays Rice in the other.

The Baylor-Southern Methodist tilt would have meaning only if Texas lost to A&M and Baylor beat Rice.

Only one game was played in the league last week. Arkansas beat Texas Tech 27-20 to close out the season for both teams.

Each wound up with a 5-5 record, poor for Arkansas, which had been the conference championship favorite, and good for Texas Tech, which hadn't been expected to win more than a couple of games.

The Texas-Texas A&M game, drawing a sellout 42,000, matches a Texas team that has won nine straight games against an Aggie outfit that has managed only two victories and a tie out of nine.

The Aggies, however, played their best defensive football of the season in beating Rice 13-6 in their last time out. That was a wider margin than Texas had in felling Rice 10-6. It caused some apprehension at Texas, a modicum of joy in Aggieland.

Most Football Teams to Play Thanksgiving

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the nation's major colleges, stunned and shocked by the death of the President, have delayed until this weekend their football day of decision.

Only two teams, Texas and Nebraska, have nailed down major bowl berths and only Nebraska accomplished it last weekend. Still to be decided are both teams in the Rose and Sugar bowls, and the visiting teams in Orange and Cotton bowls.

Most were scheduled for settlement last weekend, but were postponed because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The traditional clash between Army and Navy, scheduled in Philadelphia Saturday, still is in doubt. Officials of both service institutions have expressed a desire to play, however, so the chances of cancellation appear to be remote.

Navy, ranked second at 8-1 and possessing the season's most highly publicized player in quarterback Roger Staubach, is a solid favorite to make it five in a row over Army, 7-2.

The Middies are considered prime candidates for the Cotton Bowl, to oppose top-ranked Texas. The Longhorns, the nation's only major unbeaten, untied team at 9-0, already have clinched the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. They close the regular season against old foe

Sooners Disturbed

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma Sooners, obviously disturbed after Saturday's 29-20 loss to Nebraska in the Big Eight Conference championship football game, voted Sunday to shun any bowl offers.

North-South Game

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Northern Illinois' outstanding quarterback, George Bork, today was named to play for the North in the annual Shrine North-South College All-Star charity football game.

Texas A&M, 2-6-1.

Nebraska won the Big Eight title, its first in 23 years, and clinched the Orange Bowl spot in one of the few games played Saturday. The 10th-ranked Huskers rolled over No. 6 Oklahoma 29-20.

The only other member of the top ten in action was No. 9 Auburn, which advanced its record to 8-1 with a 21-15 victory over Florida State. Auburn plays seventh-ranked Alabama at Tuscaloosa Saturday, with both considered leading candidates for a major bowl berth.

Games in East Lansing, Mich. Los Angeles and Seattle, all postponed from last Saturday, will determine the Rose Bowl opponents.

Michigan State, ranked fourth, and Illinois, ranked eighth, play at East Lansing Thursday. Each has a 6-1-1 record. The winner gets the Big Ten title and the visiting spot in the Rose Bowl.

The host role will be determined Saturday in the Washington-Washington State and Southern California-UCLA games. A victory for Washington probably would clinch it, with a loss throwing the spot to Southern Cal, providing the Trojans beat UCLA.

The Sugar Bowl is still wide open. Chief contenders appear to be Auburn, Alabama, Mississippi, and Pitt.

Sen. Dirksen Against Law of Disclosure

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans' Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, is completely against any proposed law to compel members of Congress to disclose their incomes and assets.

He gave a very odd reason. He said he did not come to Congress to be a "second-class citizen." He didn't say that others who have to reveal their financial interests, like to government officials, are second class.

But Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., pointed out: When Cabinet members and other executive appointments come up for Senate approval, before they can have their new job, they are forced to disclose their investments and "we treat them as if we were going to crucify them."

Members of both parties in Congress — particularly Dirksen's fellow-senator from Illinois, Paul Douglas, a Democrat, have repeatedly called on Congress to approve a disclosure law on itself.

Two days ago so did Dirksen's opposite number, Mike Mansfield of Montana, leader of the Senate Democrats. But Dirksen said "I won't compromise an inch on this."

It sifts down to a case of "who policies the policeman?" since members of Congress vote on measures involving business interests in which many of them have major or minor holdings.

A number of events in recent months, at least one of them sensational, has given added attention to the demands for a disclosure law.

But also involved is the question of ethical conduct, which Congress expects and demands from officials in the executive branch of government.

Last month Robert G. Baker, who began as a Senate page boy and wound up as secretary to the Senate Democrats with a salary of almost $20,000, quit when his Democratic bosses decided to question him.

This happened when a vending machine company sued him and the press not only found out about it but about a lot of Baker's other financial activities which seemed to extend across the country and down to Haiti.

From these stories Baker, now 35, looks like a tycoon. A Senate committee is investigating him.

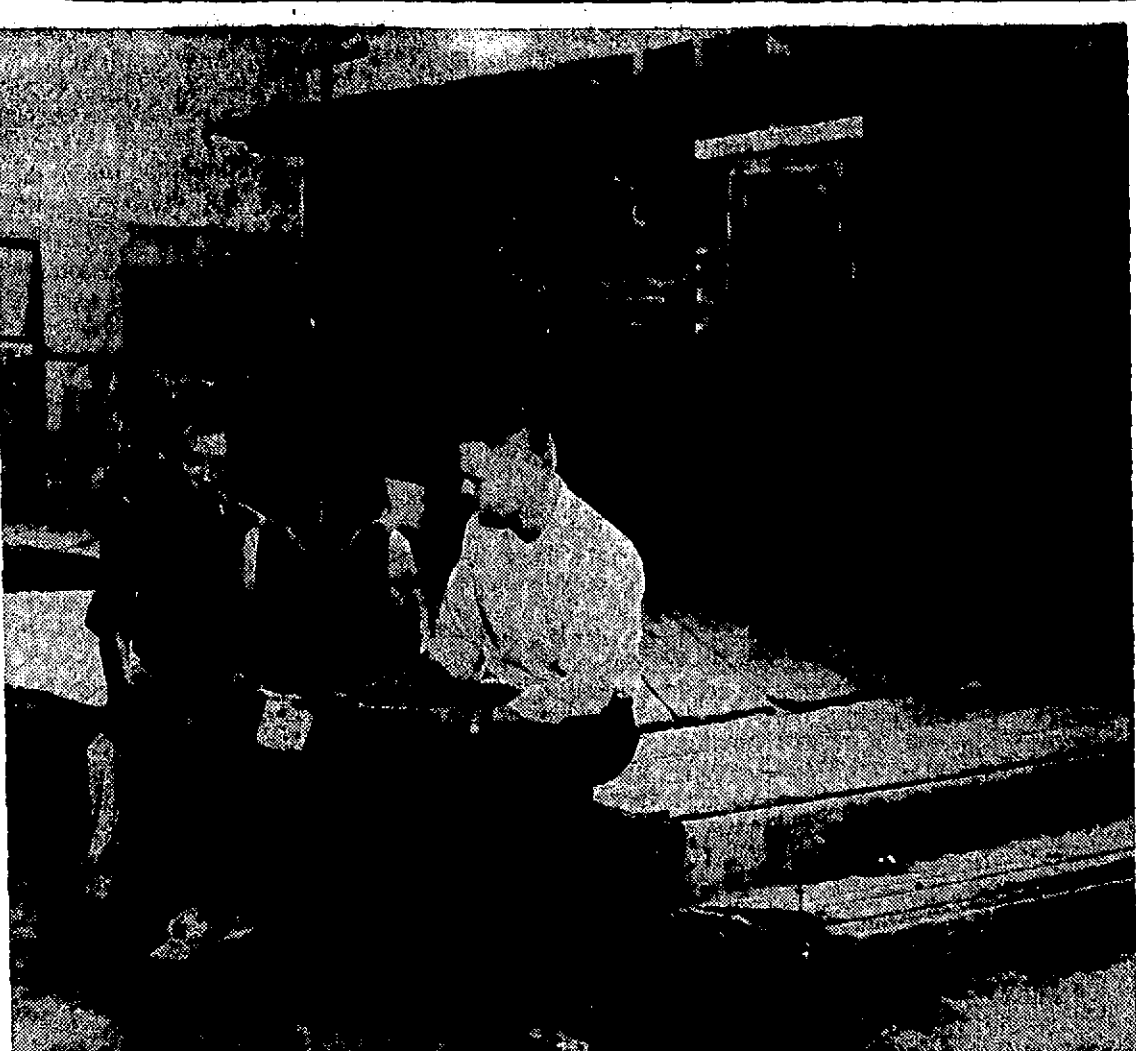

In June former Rep. Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala., and former Rep. Thomas P. Johnson, D-Md., were convicted on charges of interest and conspiracy charges in connection with a savings and loan company.

This month Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, acknowledged he helped a company get a favorable tax ruling from the government and then invested $2,300 in the company's stock which is now worth $27,000.

More recently a congressional delegation to a NATO meeting in Paris took the head waiter of the House restaurant along as a messenger. Along with them he got a free trip on a military plane and had most of his hotel and meals paid overseas out of counterpart funds.

Years ago Douglas headed a Senate committee which proposed that Congress vote to set up a commission on ethics in government and that all members of Congress and government employees making above a fixed sum in salary be compelled to disclose their income, assets and all dealings in securities and commodities and on a yearly basis. That was in 1951.

Douglas since has repeated his call for this. So have others, in one form or another. They gave various reasons for wanting disclosures but they can be summed up this way: to preserve public confidence and.

DO-IT-YOURSELF DREAM—With a financial boost from Uncle Sam, three Goshen, Calif., families have lifted themselves out of substandard life in rundown shacks and into new homes with modern conveniences. In top photo, Mr. and Mrs. Lucio Gomez, whose family is one of the three, sit on the front porch of their old home to discuss loan details with John Wilson, county supervisor with the Farmers Home Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The people taking part in the experimental do-it-yourself rural home program depend on seasonal farm work. They are self-supporting but do not earn enough to qualify for conventional loans. The average government loan is for $6,000. Below, Lucio Gomez plants shrubbery before the home which he built with his own hands at a saving of over $3,000 dollars. He will have 33 years to pay off his government loan at four per cent.

Never Met Prejudice in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A South African minister, back home from a study tour of the United States, says he never met the bitter prejudice toward the Negro he had expected to find.

The Rev. C. W. Parnell, pastor of the Johannesburg Baptist Church, said he deliberately looked for prejudice against Negroes.

"I hoped I would meet some rabid segregationists," he said, but, although I met hosts of people, not one revealed himself to me as sympathetic to the Ku Klux Klan or anything of that type."

He said that may have been due to the fact he moved in circles related to churches. He added that the thought of many Americans seemed to be: "We are working toward integration. It has to come. We are not satisfied with our present race relations."

People told him of tremendous strides, led and inspired by Southern whites, since the war. They argued: "You cannot hurry changes in human relations. The real trouble is that the Kennedy brothers and others want although they didn't phrase it this way, to keep Congress honest."

WITH INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR—Exchanges of ideas from many lands spiced the picnic fare at the 6th annual International Family Day picnic in Berkeley, Calif. Thousands of foreign students and families playing host to them gathered from Bay Area campuses and communities for the People-to-People-sponsored get-together.

Common Mkt. Turns Sour for Americans

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects.

They speak of a drastic turn-about in the last few months. The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour. So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but maybe other goods later.

Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead."

Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers.

These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U. S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962. They come also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products especially farm goods.

The mood in this country continues to move too fast. It is that compulsion which cause trouble."

The Rev. Mr. Parnell said segregation of restaurants in Nashville, Tenn., ended while he was in that city. "Although I lunched or dined in one of these restaurants every day during my 5-week stay there, I did not see a single Negro demonstration. The transition passed unnoticed by most people and very few Negroes bothered to take advantage of their new liberty. The protest appeared to be a matter of principle rather than a desire to eat at the restricted restaurants," he said.

"The Negroes simply did not want to be treated as different from the whites. This, of course, is the basic motivation in all color protests."

Parnell's views were published in the Johannesburg Star.

trasts with talk a year ago, when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg as a beguiling market for American goods.

But early this year, France vetoed Britain's petition for entry. The other members quarreled on several issues. Levies against American poultry were raised and America readied tariff reprisals.

There's a trace of bitterness in some of the reactions heard now.

"We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and then shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

President Thomas Moses of Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis said "the Common Market is just the old tariff union with a high-sounding name. They will have to be persuaded to let their tariffs down; they won't do it otherwise."

However, is the first step toward reviving trade a Dallas banker says: "We were expecting too much. Those countries aren't going to take to nationalism overnight, especially not France, which has just spent seven years fighting a nationalistic war in Algeria."

President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The internationalization of commerce, both as to direct exports and to overseas plants, is the predominant trend today, he said.

Others agree that American business should continue in that direction, whether trade hits

ALC to Review Agency Audits

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Legislative Joint Auditing Committee will review audits of eight state agencies at its regular meeting in Fayetteville Saturday.

The meeting date coincides with the Arkansas Razorback homecoming football game with Texas Tech.

Audits to be examined are those of the Board of Osteopathic Examiners, Contractors Licensing Board, State Auditor's Office, Bank Department, Cashier's Office of the Revenue Department, Girls Training School, Municipal Aid Fund and War Memorial Stadium.

The move was opposed by the Arkansas Traveler, the student newspaper, and by the Interfraternity Council which is composed of all the fraternities on the campus.

Because of the death of President John F. Kennedy all homecoming festivities were called off and floats intended for the homecoming parade were not used.

The sororities and residence halls had intended to display small hand-painted signs for homecoming but many did not put them up because of the assassination.

Dr. David W. Mullins, university president, said the need for the auditorium is "being carefully considered in university planning."

Sororities at UA Donate to Fund

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Sororities and independent residence halls have given the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees a check for $2,620 to start an auditorium construction fund.

The sororities and halls elected to forego expensive homecoming floats and decorations in order to begin the fund. They feel the university does not have adequate facilities for all-school entertainment.

The move was opposed by the Arkansas Traveler, the student newspaper, and by the Interfraternity Council which is composed of all the fraternities on the campus.

ALC to Review Agency Audits

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Legislative Joint Auditing Committee reviewed and filed the audits of eight state agencies Saturday in a meeting at Fayetteville.

Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, chairman of the committee, appointed two committees to draft messages of goodwill and confidence to President Lyndon B. Johnson and the two Arkansas senators, J. William Fulbright and John L. McClellan.

The audits were from the Board of Osteopathic Examiners, Contractors Licensing Board, State Auditor's Office, Bank Department, Cashier's Office of the Revenue Department, Girls Training Schools, Municipal Aid Fund and War Memorial Stadium.

Every Year It Takes Less Time to Fly Around World, More Time to Drive to Work

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Newlyweds have an average of two big family fights the first year of their marriage. Guess who usually wins both of them: If your doctor says you're suffering from phronophobia, he's tactfully telling you that you're afraid to think.

Each year it takes less time to fly around the world — and more time to drive to work.

Never argue with a U.S. mail truck at a traffic intersection. It has the right of way over all other vehicles.

Women may have had a great impact on civilization, but the five historical figures most books have been written about were all men. They are Jesus Christ, William Shakespeare, Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and Napoleon Bonaparte. Great business of life is to be. Many cashiers hate to handle $2 bills today, for fear they will mistake them for $5 bills. But at one time or another in the United States banknotes were circulated in such unusual denominations as $3, $4, $6, $8, $11, $12, $15 and $25.

On the desk of Monty Morgan, television producer, is this: "Thank goodness we live in a free country where a man may say what he thinks—if he isn't afraid of his wife, his neighbors or his boss, and if he's sure it won't hurt his business or his reputation."

Stockholders Dearly Love Stock Splits

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Stockholders love stock splits even when they know that their share in the company's assets and business remains just what it was.

And today the 2.2 million who hold American Telephone & Telegraph stock are doubtless as elated at the proposal to split the stock 2 for 1 as they are at the announcement that the dividend will go from 90 cents to $1, although it's the latter that really puts money in their pockets.

The man or woman who owns 10 shares will feel more affluent when he has 20 shares next summer, even if the price per share is lower, and even though he is on notice that the company also plans to issue about 12.25 million more shares to swell the 244 million already outstanding before the proposed split. At Wednesday's market the value of all the shares was $34 billion.

By cold arithmetic the value of all the shares after the split should be no higher. But in practice a stock often rises on the market after a split is announced.

And most of the 2.2 million stockholders are probably counting on that, confident that the going price on their personal holdings will be higher than it is today.

The company doubtless is following usual financial thinking in proposing a split and a new stock offering.

The idea is that with more stocks around, and with the price of an individual share lower than today's quotation of around $140, more than the present 2.2 million holders can and will buy them. The wider the base of public holdings the better, is the theory.

And the proposed new issue would bring in funds the company needs to finance its big expansion program.

There are some other side effects to stock splitting. Per-share earnings go down, even if net profits remain the same. This doesn't look as exciting on the balance sheet. But the thinking is that lower per-share earnings dampen some labor unrest — the worker doesn't feel that the shareowner is getting too big a slice of the pie. And those who decry big business sometimes get less upset at the lower per-share earnings figure. Also, customers may not be so price conscious if the yield on a share looks smaller.

So far this year some 200 companies have split their stocks in varying amounts. Some which attracted the most attention are Chrysler, Deere & Co., Singer Manufacturing, Cleveland Electric, Lockheed Aircraft, Colgate - Palmolive, Syntex. Last year splits were announced by 315 companies.

The last time AT&T split its stock was in 1959 — with the announcement shortly before Christmas 1958. That split was 3 for 1.

Wants Ready to Go Air Reserve

By DON MCKEE

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. (AP)—Blunt, aggressive Lt. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, a militarist who talks about saving money for the taxpayer, wants a solid ready-to-go Air Force Reserve even if it means cutting down on size.

He wants to realign the 310,000-man reserve along state lines, to set up a career incentive program and streamline training methods.

"I want to get away from this 'numbers racket' and get into the business of maximum performance," said Timberlake who has been chief of the complex Continental Air Command—CONAC—for little more than a year.

He jabbed at a map on his office wall. "If there's another war, we're just as likely to have a battlefield here in Iowa as elsewhere," Timberlake said.

Timberlake proposes to replace 16 continental area headquarters with 48 state sectors in the hope of creating a more tightly knit reserve force. He plans to take his proposal to the Pentagon this month.

The 51-year-old general, a war veteran and former Pentagon officer, gave his views in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press at command headquarters at this bustling base in central Georgia.

"The whole reserve program should be based on a realistic requirement of an active duty force and a realistic capability of a reserve force," he said, jotting on a note pad.

Timberlake explained his plan. It centers around the 168,000 reservists designated ready in Air Force terminology; the reserve is composed of 120,000 in the standby group and 31,000 retired.

The ready force is susceptible to call-up in an emergency on orders of the President; it takes an act of Congress to mobilize the standby.

During the Cuban crisis, 14,000 ready reservists were mobilized; 5,000 were called up during the Berlin blockade.

About 24,000 are in flying units operating daily. Reservists fly 52 per cent of the Army's parachute jump training missions. Another 29,000 are in nonflying support units.

That leaves 110,000 men who are classified as "mobilization assignees" — individuals, some of them located where there is no reserve unit.

With their headquarters often in another state, these men feel no sense of cohesiveness, Timberlake said.

"Take a reservist in Alabama under control of a sector which is headquartered in Tampa, Fla. — he doesn't feel he's a part of anything," Timberlake said.

Under his proposal, reserve headquarters would be set up in each of the continental states

AP&L Man Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — Funeral services were held today for J. Watt Smith, 63, Hot Springs manager for Arkansas Power & Light Co., who died Saturday. Smith had been with AP&L for 41 years. Survivors include his widow, one son, one daughter, his mother, two brothers and three sisters.

with active duty detachments staffing the headquarters as advisors.

"This way I could take all of the nonflying units and individuals and assign them to state headquarters," he said. "This way, I feel I would get the cohesiveness we need."

"If we had a solid ready-to-go force of 100,000 to 110,000, then we would be a lot better off than we would be with 200,000 or 168,000—some of which are ready and some not."

Judge Dies at Forrest City

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — Funeral services were held Sunday for St. Francis County Judge M. D. Clark who died Saturday at a Forrest City hospital. He was 64.

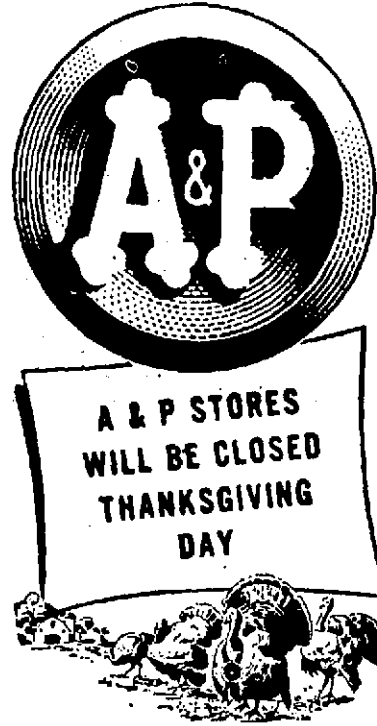

Clark was in his fourth term as county judge, and had served two terms in the Arkansas Legislature. He was also tax assessor for St. Francis County for two terms.

He is survived by his widow and six sisters.

Take Time Out For Tea

AFTER A SERIES OF PARTIES with late hours and rich foods, set aside a few hours for a quiet get-together around your tea table. There's no happier way to spell hospitality and your friends will appreciate a leisurely afternoon lull with steaming cups of tea and a few simple refreshments. Tiny finger sandwiches, spread with softened cream cheese, mixed with a little grated lemon rind or orange juice, are just right. So are thin slices of fruit or pound cake. Or make a two-layer white cake, cover with a fluffy white frosting and decorate with colorful chopped candied fruits.

Do be sure the tea you serve is freshly made and piping hot. The easiest way to make sure of this is to prepare a tea concentrate beforehand. Then at teatime you pour a little concentrate into the teacup and fill up with piping hot water. The usual proportions are one part of concentrate to 5 parts of water, though by varying the amount of the concentrate, you can vary the strength of the tea to suit all tastes.

HOT TEA CONCENTRATE

Bring 1 1/2 quarts cold freshly drawn water to a full rolling boil. Remove from the heat and immediately add 1/4 pound loose tea. Stir to immerse leaves. Cover. Let stand 5 minutes. Strain into a teapot until ready to serve. This makes enough concentrate for 40 to 45 cups of tea.

Days, Nights Filled With Anguish

By DORIS O'DONNELL The Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Christine Simko, battling to face each dawn with a smile, finds her days and nights filled with pain, fitful slumber and anguish.

In the first interview with Christine since her right leg was amputated 11 days ago to halt a cancer, she displayed a variety of moods — each overshadowed by tears.

"I'm so weak," the 14-year-old girl sighed, struggling to adjust her position by grasping for a metal triangle over her bed.

Frustration in reaching the bar brought tears of anger and defeat. They splashed onto the pillow from her gray-blue eyes.

Her mother, Mrs. Lily Simko, who visits daily at her bedside, offered help the girl rejected. Moments later when a social service worker tried to adjust a pillow, she cried: "Don't touch me."

Mrs. Simko explained Christine's nerves are still raw and "she can't stand to have anyone touch her bed."

However, during the anguish of waiting for a pill to alleviate the pain, Christine welcomed and clung to the cool hands hospital aides pressed to her hot forehead.

Doctors at Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital report the pain and discomfort Christine is enduring is "normal."

Her crying is "not any more than we have a perfect right to expect," a doctor said.

Her mother says she still doesn't understand why the amputation was necessary. She said she had Christine in the hospital in August and September and signed forms for tests but "nothing was done, and the court released her to me."

Mrs. Simko, an English war bride, was divorced and has supported Christine and a younger child, Michael, with relief payments.

Dr. Robert W. Hopkins, who performed surgery on Christine, said she "has borne up far better than expected under the stress and discomfort of am-

Communism Finally Gets Foot in Door

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For this country South Viet Nam has been a cork in a bottle, preventing communism from spilling into all the Southeast Asian peninsula. The cork just got tweaked.

Cambodia, next door to Viet Nam, has canceled all American help. It will almost certainly now depend more on Red China, giving communism a foot in the door even wider than Viet Nam.

Cambodia is in the very heart of the peninsula, bordered by Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian leader, he said he is convinced the Communists already have won the battle for Viet Nam and feels his own neutral country will eventually fall to communism.

His attitude and his refusal to accept any more American guns or money are a searing reminder the United States is living on borrowed time in Southeast Asia, and perhaps all Asia.

BEST OF EVERYTHING—Designer of this odd craft apparently couldn't make up his mind whether he wanted a helicopter or an airplane. It's a helicopter, however—a modified Bell Model 47—being tested to develop an aircraft which can lift very heavy loads in excess of normal hover capacity. Early tests showed that the addition of wings allowed a 33 per cent increase in take-off weight.

of the peninsula, bordered by Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian leader, he said he is convinced the Communists already have won the battle for Viet Nam and feels his own neutral country will eventually fall to communism.

His attitude and his refusal to accept any more American guns or money are a searing reminder the United States is living on borrowed time in Southeast Asia, and perhaps all Asia.

The Red Chinese, trying to catch up with the 20th century and still lacking nuclear weapons, have so far avoided a showdown with this country in Southeast Asia by not intervening directly.

It can only be a matter of time before the belligerent Chinese feel strong enough to try to drive American power and influence out of Asia altogether.

Meanwhile it can use what is obvious and comes handy, like subversion, various pressures and even local Communist guerrillas to avoid a direct confrontation with this country.

For the United States, which for years had its hand full trying to achieve effective anti-Communist resistance in embattled Viet Nam, the years ahead seem sure to hold more critical, dismal, unhappy days.

Just this week President Kennedy in Florida said the American states must be ready to go to the aid of any Latin-American government requesting help against a Communist takeover.

When this country feels so strongly about preventing communist penetration of this hemisphere, it is not unnatural the Red Chinese feel the same way about Western penetration or interference in Asia.

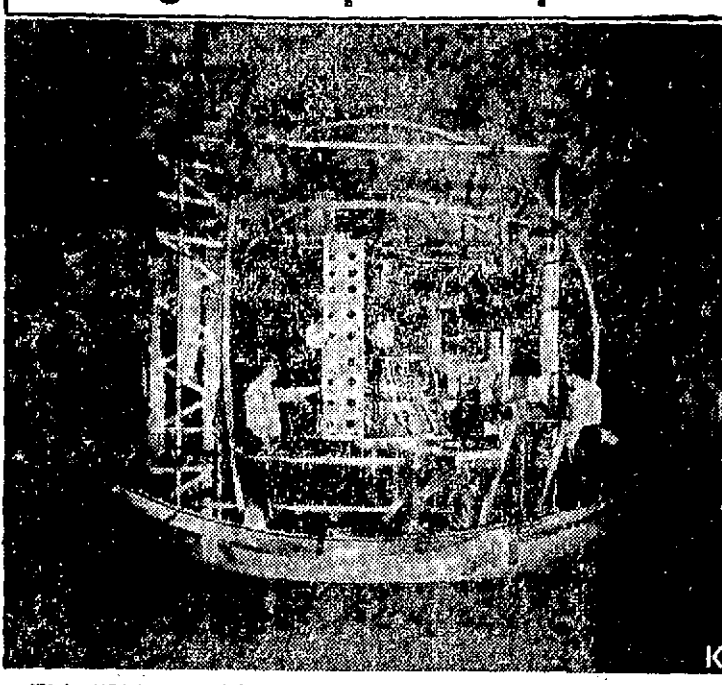

What can the United States do?

What it is doing: trying to bolster anti-Communist or neutral Asian regimes to prevent a Red takeover.

What hope of success can it have in the long run?

Probably only this: that perhaps the Red Chinese Communist government will somehow collapse or that, over the inter-

Danger: Mosquitos Keep Off!

This 5233 pound bearing table, created for space exploration, is so delicately poised—the weight of a mosquito landing on it would cause it to tilt and oscillate! The Grumman-designed table will serve as the platform upon which the control system of the orbiting astronomical observatory (OAO) will be developed and tested.

The table will simulate as nearly as possible the complete freedom of motion of a satellite in space. Closed, the chamber is designed to be evacuated in order to eliminate thermal drafts interfering with the sensitivity of the table.

The new OAO venture into space will explore the nature of heavenly bodies far beyond the vision of earthbound astronomical instruments. It will also monitor cosmic data—ultra-violet rays, for example, which never reach the earth—and have never before been studied.

In the photo, the top of the chamber has been removed to expose the air bearing table on which the OAO control system will be studied and observed.

HUSBAND STRAYS; IS WIFE TO BLAME

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I was faithful to Sunday School and church. Being pretty and having a pleasing personality, I always found plenty of other men around to replace those whom I turned down. Finally, I married. Haha! Would to God I had stayed single. My husband, though kind, has strayed. Recently, he secretly dated an old love, thinking ostrich-fashion that I knew nothing about it.

In my book no man is worth writing home about. My advice to all girls is to stay single, work, save their money and live happy. —One Who Knows

Dear One: To "live happy" is to live fully. No unmarried woman ever lives fully, even though she may enjoy all the intimate aspects of marriage. To me, the unhappiest wife is far better off than the most successful career girl.

Being single is no insurance against heartaches. The fact that your husband secretly dates an old flame would indicate that he isn't finding the love he seeks at home. Also in his favor is your own admission of his kindness. Try giving him an extra dose of love and see what happens. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "A Happy Marriage."

Dear Helen: We fellows want some help. There is a man of 29 working where we work who laughs and talks about a widow with whom he lives. He says she gave him money to buy a car and makes fun of her for doing this. We know she needs her money for herself and 6-year-old son. Should we tip her off about her gabby "boarder"? —Fair Play Boys

Dear Boys: Any woman who has been married borne a child and widowed, should know what she is doing. Foolish though her actions may be, they are none of your business. Register your disapproval instead by telling Gabby off next time he boasts of his power over the poor, weak thing. He should be drummed out of town.

Dear Helen: My parents made me break with a boy whom I adored. Now he is dating another girl whose parents like him. She has money. I am 17, he is 19. We had planned to marry in two years. Friends and family say he wasn't good enough for me but I loved him and still do. How can I find out if he continues to feel the same about me? —So Unhappy

Dear So: That boy most certainly doesn't feel as deeply as you do, or he wouldn't be dating another girl. Your family and friends are right. Forget him. Concentrate instead upon self-improvement. Develop your potentialities. Be somebody and, sooner or later, you'll meet a boy worthy of your love.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

APPLES OF HER EYE—Mrs. Dorothy Akins of Nowata, Okla., is right proud of her little apple tree which she set out four years ago. Only 10 feet tall, it produced 360 apples this year—in five varieties, no less. One of the apples weighed more than a pound.

Ann Kenyon: Surgeon

By Adeline McElfresh

Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. © 1960 Adeline McElfresh

Far ahead, a red flare warned of the emergency and Peter's arm went out the window, dropped in the traditional slow down signal to the driver behind him. Two cars had crashed head-on almost at the brow of a hill; they lay now, a gnarled and anguished scrap-heap of metal and human bodies, in the garish light from headlamps and flares. "I never saw anything so stupid!" He whipped out and passed—"Sickness was in the man's voice. "That other guy never had a chance!"

"We're doctors," Peter was identifying them. "Will you let us through, please?"

"Here's Doc McDonnal!" a man shouted.

A way opened for them and closed behind them, as the human tide pressed forward again. One of the ambulances already was pulling out, hospital-bound; the hospital had been alerted, Ann knew. Dave Clyde and Dr. Mabis would be standing by, the girl at the switchboard would be trying to locate her and Peter. Ignoring the pang she dropped to her knees beside one of the injured, a child perhaps nine, on whom somebody had applied a good Barton-type bandage.

"Looks as if the doc's been steppin' out on Miss Ledbie," a man's voice said and in the sudden stillness that followed it, Ann felt a hundred eyes focused on her.

Moments later the ambulance was headed for Ledbie, not at the breakneck speed at which it had approached the accident scene but at a steady, smooth, mile-consuming pace that put them at Ledbie Memorial Hospital in good time without risking additional injury to its passengers.

She ran for the ambulance entrance and raced along the corridor, past the emergency room where Dave and Dr. Mabis were working over someone, past X-ray over whose door the warning red light said the room was in use and don't open the door, past Miss Anderson with her arms piled high with fresh sterile linens. Mrs. Conover and Janet Ledbie were preparing the operating room for the emergency surgery and when Ann hurried into the nurses' scrub room which she also used, Cass Llewellyn was there, stripped to bra and panties, scrubbing.

"I'm glad Peg found you, Doctor! What a mess!"

"It is pretty much of one," Ann said. "Peter says one of them is in shock with internal hemorrhage."

Cass whistled and went on working on her nails with the stiff brush. Ann got out of her suit and started scrubbing too, lathering the green soap and scrubbing it in brisk circles over her hands and arms, paying special attention to her nails and cuticle. She had rinsed and was scrubbing again, following the same thorough technique, when Cass Llewellyn said, "When Peg couldn't find either you or Dr. McDonnal I think Dave thought he'd had it." Her laugh was soft, "especially after he was told Miss Ledbie said she would ask Dr. Lyle to come down. You should have heard him."

Ann said "I can imagine." They had called Helen, thinking that Peter might be there.

Cass finished scrubbing. Mrs. Conover came to gown, glove, cap and mask her . . . and then, a bit later, returned to help Ann.

The nurse's usually pleasant mouth had thinned to a straight line. Ann gave her an inquiring look. "What's the matter, Mrs. Conover?"

"Dr. Lyle is scrubbing."

Ann started. Cass had said Helen had spoken of having him come to the hospital, but —

"That fool Peg Holiday — Gown, Doctor," she interrupted her aggravation.

The gown tied at Ann's back, the nurse tucked her honey brown hair into the snug-fitting stockinet cap and tied the breathing mask into place, briefing Ann on preparations for the operation as she worked. The injured man's blood was being typed, donors had been alerted and as a precaution one of each type was on its way to the hospital. Ann listened with a growing uneasiness. A patient in shock and they were going to have to wait for blood to be taken from a donor!

The X-rays were waiting when Ann entered the operating room, a sheaf of films still dripping - wet because in an emergency like this there was not time to let them dry.

She was still studying them a few minutes later when Dr. Lyle emerged from the scrub room, a short, plump figure that somehow managed to remain pompous even in surgical gown, stockinet cap and white gauze mask.

"Well, Doctor!" as he hustled over, "I see they found you. Peter also, I trust."

"He's in the emergency room."

Seven million bushels of apples were picked and nearly 5,000 train carloads were shipped from Northwest Arkansas in 1919.

EGGS-TRAORDINARY—There are two fresh eggs in that package falling from the top of a four-story building. No harm done, though. The eggs landed unscrambled and uncracked, as shown in inset. The 65-foot egg toss was a test of a Lockheed Aircraft-developed air and plastic container designed to protect delicate electronic instruments during shipment.

The Same Old Group Asking Re-election

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The voice of the political prophet is still and small in Arkansas this year.

Normally at this time of the biennium—with the Democratic primary ticket closing only five months away — rumors are as thick as mosquitoes on the Arkansas River levee.

This year the guessing centers not so much on who will do what but when they will do it.

Most observers believe that all state officials, including Gov. Orval E. Faubus, will be seeking re-election when the lists are drawn.

Faubus, of course, has not committed himself. But mention next year's election to an administration man and the answer will be:

"I don't know what he (Faubus) plans, but he's running right now."

This conclusion is logically drawn from the governor's speechmaking activity. His appearances around the state in the last few months have been at a campaign pace.

Only one officeholder—Secretary of State Kelly Bryant—was ready to state without qualification that he would seek re-election when The Associated Press polled constitutional officers about their plans this week.

Treasurer Nancy Hall and Justice Frank Holt of the Supreme Court both say they intend as of now to run for re-election.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, Auditor Jimmy Jones and Land Commissioner Sam Jones say they will seek re-election if they do not run for some other office.

Lt. Gov. Nathem Gordon was not available for comment but he is expected to ask for a 10th term. Gordon, elected in 1946, is the dean of state officials.

Bennett's plans hinge on what Faubus does. The attorney general would like to run once more for governor, a post he sought unsuccessfully in 1960. He does not, however, intend to take on Faubus again.

Jimmy Jones and Sam Jones both played with the idea of running for secretary of state in 1962 but both eventually filed for re-election. Both have held their jobs since 1957.

A proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the land office may push Sam Jones into another race this year.

Bryant, Mrs. Hall and Holt all are first termers. Holt was elected to fill a two-year unexpired term and he will be seeking a full eight-year term if he runs next summer.

There was some speculation earlier that Mrs. Hall would run for secretary of state, a position her late husband, C. G. Hall, held for 25 years and which she held in 1961-62 by appointment. This speculation has died away, however.

The lack of speculation about possible opponents for Faubus is a tribute to his vote-getting power.

Two years ago half a dozen names had been mentioned at this stage of development and three of these names—those of Dale Alford, Sid McMath and Kenneth Coffelt — wound up on the ballot.

Only one man — Rep. Hardy

Croxton of Benton County—he indicated a desire to test Faubus in 1964.

Despite the quietness, it is unlikely that Faubus will escape without opposition if he makes a sixth term bid.

All state officials had opposition in 1962, the first time in many years that there was a contest for every position.

No incumbent was defeated, however, and veteran politicians—Bennett, Mrs. Hall and Holt—won three of four races in which there was no incumbent.

There were no state race veterans in the race for secretary of state but Bryant, long-time field secretary of the Arkansas Sheriffs Association, had the strongest statewide connections.

Changes Seen in Moscow in 25 Years

EDITOR'S NOTE — John Lloyd, an Associated Press correspondent since 1925, was assigned to Moscow in 1934-35. Now general executive for The AP in Europe and Africa, he recently went back to Moscow for a visit. Here are his observations.

By JOHN LLOYD
LONDON (AP)—If you wanted to buy a chocolate bar and you found it cost $1 you would grumble.

If you found that a very small, scrawny, unattractive chicken cost $3 you wouldn't like it at all.

Especially if you earned $100 a month.

But apartment rent might be $5 or $6 a month. You wouldn't grumble about that. Nor would you object to a 5-cent fare on the subway or bus, anywhere you wanted to go.

You would not like paying two weeks' salary for a new dress or perhaps double that for a new suit. But if you were enthusiastic about everybody being alike and about everybody being lifted, en masse, to a better plane of existence, and were not fussy about the time it took, you might go along with the idea.

Twenty-seven years ago I was a correspondent in Moscow. Subsequent events took me to various other parts of the world. Only now have I had the opportunity to go back.

A city that in my time claimed two million people has six million today. Very wide avenues, straight as a die, cut through it, and five bridges span the broad river where there were next to none before. Apartment houses, all exactly the same but nevertheless large, cover a vast area on the outskirts that formerly was a dump.

Moscow has spread as it has grown in population. A furious building enterprise is going on. People still wait for the chance to get proper living quarters. Proper means small rooms and not many, but there is good heat, there is plumbing and for many people it is more than they have had in the past.

Moscow is drab, and the people, from our point of view, dress drably. There is no elegance, no froth. But they appear to be comfortably clad, and they appear, en masse, to be not unhappy with the circumstances.

You can compare Russia only to its past. You cannot compare it to the Western world. Our ways of life are totally different, and that is not wholly a matter of the revolution.

Twenty-seven years ago an air of fear cloaked Moscow and other parts of the Soviet Union. That now has been much relieved. It still is not easy to mix freely, but let us remember characteristics of a people as well as those of a state. Suspicion, mystery, intrigue always were there. Russians drink heavily and sometimes are gay, but Russians in total are a grim rather than a frivolous people.

There is the same old mustiness in Moscow that was there 27 years ago. It is an indoor phenomenon, but it gets into your clothes and you feel you are carrying it about with you. It comes from a combination of smoke, lack of fresh air and crowded living. It is not a political thing.

Westerners who visit Moscow are put up in the same hotels used 27 years ago. If any change of paint, polish or carpeting has taken place in that time, the artisans were expert at keeping alive old traditions.

Traffic is extremely light compared to that in Western cities. Parking is no problem.

There are two channels of television. One may be showing a play, an opera or ballet, the other a circus or sports, and there is plenty of politics. By politics I mean that of the state. There are no sweet lovelies and there is no frivolity.

Twenty-seven years ago one would hesitate even to approach the gates of the Kremlin. Now people go in and out without even a check. Tours, with guides, go in to see the elaborate churches and the magnificent museum.

INCLUDING THE KITCHEN SINK—Debris of man's mechanized, packaged civilization mars the majestic panorama of this Nevada landscape. The litterbugging in giant-size perspective is a garbage dump on privately owned land northwest of glittering Las Vegas, Nev. The Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management photo suggests the size of the problem the nation faces if it is to keep its natural beauties intact for future generations.

Lack of Rain Hurt Poultry Industry

By ALVIN SCHAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

The prolonged drought has hit one of Arkansas' blossoming industries — poultry — but an industry spokesman said the shortage of rain could have come at a more critical time.

Ed Harms of Russellville, executive secretary of the Arkansas Poultry Federation, said the peak season in poultry processing is April to July. Less placements of chickens are made in the fall.

But the Arkansas poultry industry, which led the nation last year in pounds graded by the Agriculture Department (516,794,614) could be in trouble if sufficient rains don't come in the next few months.

Harms said that although placements begin tapering off after Labor Day, they start picking up again in December. Rains of three or four inches over a one- or two-day period are needed, Harms said.

Already, low water supplies have caused two plants to close down, although one has since opened. The Clinton plant of the J. K. Sutherland Co. was closed for three weeks, and broilers had to be taken to the Sutherland plant at Batesville, Sutherland manager Carl Shaver said.

And a week ago, Waldron Mayor Una May notified Arkansas Valley Industries it would have to close its subsidiary plant at Waldron because the water supply had dwindled. The 170 employees of Scott County Poultry Processing Co., the AVI subsidiary, were laid off. The Waldron plant processed 50,000 chickens a day.

The poultry experts say about nine gallons of water is needed to raise a chicken. Arkansas plants process almost five million broilers a week.

Harms said a farmer needs about twice as much water as feed in raising a chicken, about two gallons per chicken. Turkeys take seven times more water than is needed to raise chickens.

Because of the drought, Harms said, "a lot of chicken houses on farms are empty." He said Washington, Madison and Benton counties, in particular, are harder hit by the drought than is the Arkansas Valley.

The drought, which was dent-

JACK AND THE TOMATO STALK—Ira D. Cripe, of Lawrence, Kans., is dwarfed by his appropriately named "Big Boy" tomato plants. Cripe, a semiretired barber, gardens as a hobby. The largest plant, on the right, is 16 feet tall and would grow taller if it had higher support. It's held up with a steel rod and produced well over 100 tomatoes during the season.

Regional Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The southern regional division of the National Business Education Association will meet Thursday through Saturday in Little Rock. Teachers, from colleges, high schools and private schools in 12 states will attend.

ed this week by rain, doesn't make much difference as far as grain feed for poultry is concerned, Harms said. Most of the grain comes from other states. When drought hits some of these states, such as Iowa, Harms said "we really begin to worry."

To give an example of the part Arkansas plays in national production of poultry, plants in the state processed 4,955,000 broilers the week of Nov. 9, while the national figure for that week was 36,114,600. Arkansas usually comes up with around 15 per cent of national production, Harms said.

Harms pointed out that although Arkansas led the nation last year in pounds of poultry graded, Georgia was first in per pound production. The difference, he said, was that more poultry was federally inspected, but not graded, in Georgia.

In the pounds graded, Alabama was in second place in 1962 trailing Arkansas by almost 170 million pounds.

Harms predicted Arkansas would not lose the top spot in the 1963 pounds graded figure.

DRAMATIC TURN—Long noted for his ability at comedy Milton Berle turns toward dramatic acting. Here desperation marks his face as he portrays a campaign manager fighting for his political life in a television show.

Under certain conditions, Blue Mountain in Stone County, near Mountain View, roars. When the weather turns cold suddenly, the mountain makes noises like the singing of hundreds of telephone wires in a stiff breeze in cold weather.

LONDON (AP)—Government programs "far in excess of anything tried in our country up to now" are being prepared, says

Great Britain's prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home. The prime minister, whose Conservative party faces a strong challenge from the Labor party in elections next year, said Britain could enjoy the benefits of an expanding economy with a little extra effort by every worker.

Sir Alec made the remarks in a speech televised to the nation.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) —

President Fuad Chehab of Lebanon told his Cabinet he doesn't intend to extend his 6-year term which expires next year, the independent Beirut Daily Al Hayat reports.

The newspaper, said Chehab, told the ministers not to press him for an extension, which he regards as unconstitutional.

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) —

Billie Sol Estes, the Texas financier convicted of fraud and theft, is free of a state criminal antitrust charge. The charge was dropped by Dist. Atty. Dee D. Miller of Potter County, Tex., Wednesday.

Maynard Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., also had been charged in the case, but a court refused to allow Texas to extradite him from New York. Without Wheeler, it would have been impossible to prove the charge against Estes, the district attorney said.
